For Immediate Release

Thanks to the generosity of the Albertina Zanzi Living Trust and Linda Lotspeich, trustee of her aunt's estate, Healdsburg High School senior, Amber Lowers, is about to embark for Great Britain where she will spend four months in a study abroad program. Amber has long dreamed of traveling to Britain and immersing herself in British culture. When the possibility of a scholarship through the Albertina Zanzi Living Trust came up last spring, Amber jumped at the chance to study and live in the UK, quickly researching potential programs, and applying for the grant. She was awarded the generous Albertina Zanzi Study Abroad Scholarship in May of this year, which is coordinated through the Healdsburg Education Foundation with coordination from the HHS Career Center's Laurie Nimmo.

Through the Study Abroad UK program, Amber will spend the fall semester living in the West Midlands with a British couple and their 13-year-old daughter. She will be a student at Aldridge School: A Science College as a sixth-form student, which is roughly equivalent to our last year of high school here in the U.S. In her spare time Amber will be doing as much sightseeing and traveling in the UK as she can.
